They say laughter is the best medicine. Which explains why you need a prescription for nitrous oxide. This book is a collection of jokes in the classic manner that is designed to be told as if you personally made them up. Some examples: "How many psychiatrists does it take to screw in a light bulb? Only one, but the light bulb has got to want to change." "How is it that one careless match can start a forest fire, but it takes a whole box to start a barbeque?" "What do you call a midget psychic who just escaped from jail? A small medium at large."

How many times have you found yourself in a situation where you had to make a toast or a short speech at somebody's birthday or wedding? Yuk Yuk's has collected pithy remarks, quotable bon mots, and merciless insults. Roasts: "He tried to snort coke one time and got the ice cubes stuck in his nose." "He once went on a diet . . . and 300 farmers went bankrupt." Toasts: "Here's to marriage. To some it's a small word. To others it's a large sentence." "May you die in bed at 100 – shot by a jealous husband."

Jokes Men Only Tell Other Men

Yuk Yuk's Joke Books, Volume III

ISBN 1-55022-607-X

5 x 8", 144pp, paper

$13.95

October 2003

Humour

They're crude, tasteless, vulgar, obscene, and offensive. But enough about Pamela Anderson's hot tub parties. A word of caution about this volume: the material herein is extremely adult and mature in nature. Which basically means there's lots of stuff about doing it and women getting accidentally naked. Read the jokes, enjoy them, tell them to your friends. But for god's sake, don't let your mother find them. (We can't even print them here!)
